

Joseph Ensley won a full Spivey Music Scholarship to Clayton State University in Morrow, GA in 2009. In the fall of 2008, Mr. Ensley won first prize at Bob Jones University's Classical Guitar/Harp competition, which included a summer scholarship and one semester's program fee. In the spring of 2007, he was a top prizewinner in two performance competitions in Georgia.

Since 2005, Mr. Ensley has performed regularly as a freelance artist and has conducted educational programs for local schools. In 2008, he was the featured soloist for the Georgia College and State University orchestra and gave a solo benefit concert for Griffin School for the Arts. Mr. Ensley was a guest performer at Bob Jones University's 2010 Commencement Concert, then again in 2011 when he played for the Il Trovatore opera production. In 2014, He performed with a Celtic group as part of the Charleston, SC Piccolo Spoleto Festival. He is active in orchestras with his wife and has performed with the Spartanburg Philharmonic orchestra on guitar and electric bass. He has also been the stage manager for both the Charleston Symphony Orchestra and the Peninsula Music Festival. He has played in numerous solo recitals and ensembles. Currently, he works as a freelance artist and as studio guitarist for Brightwater Digital studios. Mr. Ensley's latest recording is a solo guitar album entitled "In Christ Alone."